October the Rotary International Vocational Service Month will so draw to a close. Less we forget, when a person joins Rotary, one is a representative of his/her business or profession or vocation. We have an obligation to our fellow Rotarians and others who are associated with us to uphold the spirit of Rotary like the need to recognize the worthiness of all useful occupations, the need to set high ethical standards.

PP Hoe Boon Huat (Singapore) said that the objectives of vocational service are best exemplified if Rotarians work in accordance with the following guiding principles:

1. CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITIES

These four areas of responsibilities are generally recognised and seen as an inseparable whole.

- a) To Shareholders and Principals
To protect shareholders' and principals' interest and provide a fair and reasonable return.
- b) To Employees and Associates
To provide, promote and encourage:
  - Good and safe conditions of work;
  - Good and competitive terms and conditions of service;
  - Physical and mental development and best use of human talent and equal opportunity employment; and
  - The involvement of employees in the planning and direction of their work
- c) To Customers and General Public
To develop and provide products and services which offer value in terms of price, costs and quality, supported by the requisite professional, technological and commercial expertise.
- d) To Community and Society
To conduct business as responsible members of the community and society, observing applicable laws of the country and giving due regard to safety and environmental standards and societal aspirations.

2. ECONOMIC VIABILITY

Profitability and productivity are essential to discharging these responsibilities and staying in business. It is a measure both of efficiency and of the ultimate value that people place on one's products and services. Without profits and productivity, it would not be possible to fulfil the responsibilities outlined above.

Greetings from Scotland

Rotary - "International"

While I am in this land of William Wallace, visiting the Loch Ness monster and exploring ancient castles with my family, I am missing my Rotary friends in Pudu.

While thinking about my home club, I came across this heartwarming sight that bears a testament of the good work done by the Rotary Club of Lockerbie. Although I did not manage to visit their club, I have this immediate affinity to them as I read the list of good work that their club has been doing in their local community and internationally.

In Rotary Service,
President RY 2010/2011

Club Proceedings

This Monday saw VP Rtn Heng chairing the meeting in the absence of Pres. Choy Ying who will be away for two weeks. This is the first meeting to be chaired by VP Heng, and he appeared to have prepared himself for the days events.

A very nicely suited VP Heng nervously took over the proceedings after our customary introduction of Guests, singing of the National Anthem led by SAA Stanley and fining session conducted by PE Stephen Oon. Rtn Sarky read out the Rotary information.

VP Heng read out the President's Report in his best possible English and received an applause prompted by PDG Paul Lee. Relief was written on his face as he appeared to overcome his initial jitters.

Secretary Lawrance filled in the gaps seamlessly and it was a meeting that finally concluded after the two speakers, had completed their talk. Dato Jasani thanked the speakers on behalf of the Club and noted that its a 1st time for VP Heng, and another first for having two speakers in a club meeting.

Speakers' Speeches

Speaker No. 1: TUAN HJ. SHAARI AHMAD JUNID

With the aid of slide projection Tuan Hj. Shaari explained the concept of the LOCAL AGENDA21 KL (LA21KL) which basically stresses upon SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT on the basis of the following:

- a) CONCEPT: Ensuring better quality of life for everyone, present and future
- b) VISION: Towards a prosperous and greener world
- c) BASIS: Narrowing disparities between rich and poor in the national, regional and international context
- d) CHALLENGE; to achieve economic growth and social progress balanced with ecology, environmental protection.

He explained that the NEED for sustainable development comes from :

1. Rapid increase in urban population and by year 2050 the rise of urban population of the world will likely be 2/3 or 6 billion people.
2. Need to address the urban poor for if unchecked will increase threefold to 3 billion by year 2050
3. Other urban issues like crime, pollution, diseases etc.
4. Our depleting resources

It is to be noted that AGENDA 21 was adopted in 1992 by the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development and Malaysia is one of the 178 signatory countries.

Locally the LA21KL understand and recognizes that the LOCAL AUTHORITY, COMMUNITY, PRIVATE SECTOR and NGOs all need to work together as equal partners to plan and manage their surrounding area towards better quality living environment.

Everything is geared for a "win-win" partnership leading to a sustainable future . LA21KL is fully supported by the Ministry of Housing and Local Government (KPKT).

The VISION is for KUALA LUMPUR to be a WORLD CLASS CITY and the Mission if for all to work together towards this vision using the SLOGAN: "LOVING KL"

Pilot projects included the Organic/Grease Waste Management for KL Wet Market and the River Preservation of Sungai Penchala.

Speaker No. 2: INDRA RAMANATHAN

Indra Ramanathan is a successful architect who has had experienced work experience overseas after graduating from the RMIT in Melbourne. He currently is with I-Partnership but at this juncture of his career have come to have a special interest and passion for ART.

Indra view architecture as the mother of all arts and emphasized the need for art in architecture for greater appreciation of this complex art form.

His love for art saw him holding a very successful solo exhibition in PJ last year. He will hold another this year in a follow up to his success. He quoted examples of good art appreciating in the secondary market and quoted artists like Jaliani Abu Hassan, Abdul Latiff Mohiddin, Johnny Koh Rizal and Ibrahim Hussien.

Malaysian art today is relevant according to him. The 1 Malaysia Art Fair promotion is a step in the right direction. He is hopeful that art can be accepted as a financial collateral as good art pieces appreciate in value, has an intrinsic value.

To a question posed to him after his talk he acknowledged that successful artist are few and often many can barely make a financial success in this area. Thus it harkens to a love and passion for art, and the recognition that art can play a prominent role in the life and enjoyment in a city, like the interlinked role of art and architecture and public art and display.

In thanking Indra, Dato Jasani noted his thought provoking talk and that Malaysians tend to be materialistic. He wish Indra well and would progress to become a prominent artist of stature.

3. PERSONAL INTEGRITY

We must exercise honesty, loyalty and integrity in all aspects of our business; avoiding conflicts of interest between our personal and official activities in the conduct of our business. The offer, payment, soliciting and acceptance of bribes in any form and any unprofessional and unfair conduct are unacceptable practices.

4. WELFARE

It should be our policy to conduct our activities in such a way as to take into account the health and safety of others, and to give proper regard to the safety and conservation of the environment.

5. SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY

The most important contribution that we can make to the social and material progress of a country is in performing our basic activities as efficiently as possible. In addition, we need to recognise and take a constructive interest in societal matters which may not be directly related to our business. We must endeavour to take advantage of the opportunities available to be involved in community educational and youth programmes.

76th DISTRICT CONFERENCE

December is fast approaching and since our Club is organising this conference which will be held from 10 - 12th December 2010 our Organising Chairman PP KH LOW is appealing for all of our Pudu Rotarians to quickly sign up if they have neglected to do so.

This far the number of registrants is below expectation and it is hoped that this is "normal" as usually there are many last minute registrations, including on site registrations.

Planning meetings are more frequent now, including meetings after our regular Monday Club meetings. With less than 2 months to go things will hot up even more and thus Club member's support is vital, if anything it would be a good morale boosters for the hardworking committee members working on this coming 76th District Conference.

Programmes are being fine-tuned and PP K.H. LOW still promises a "Conference With A Difference-Again".

MEETING WITH D.G. ON MONDAY 25TH OCTOBER, 2010

The Organizing Committee for the 76th District Conference will hold a meeting this coming Monday, 25th October, 2010 at 8.30 pm in PDG Dr. Paul Lee's residence.

This meeting will fine tune many issues and all members of the Organizing Committee's presence will be appreciated.

A DEGREE OF FOCUS

by PDG Elizabeth Usovicz

- October 7, 2010.

"The main thing is keeping the main thing the main thing."

- German Proverb

"Concentrate all your thoughts upon the work at hand. The sun's rays do not burn until brought to a focus."

-Alexander Graham Bell

My sister has been in search of the ultimate exercise regimen for most of her adult life.

When I relocated to Kansas City, she regularly included me in her quest.

First we tried step aerobics together. Neither of us seemed able to master the necessary brain/arm/leg coordination. Then came spinning classes, the Tour de France on a stationary bike that left me sore and testy. I passed on the offer to study Hapkido martial arts with her.

Then she suggested bikram yoga. Yoga seemed tame given my sister's penchant for the physically demanding. "Yoga?" I asked, surprised. "Hot yoga," she breezed. "Yoga in a room that's 105 degrees Fahrenheit. It's supposed to be a really good workout. Wanna try it?"

I can't sit on my patio in 105 degrees. But I agreed to go.

The yoga studio was deceptively airy and light, with shiny blond wood floors and mirrored walls. Several students had already rolled out their mats were doing their pre-class stretches.

Staking out a spot near the windows at the back of the room, I resolutely unrolled my mat and sat down, eyes closed. Then the wall of heat blasted me like a Jedi's force field. But this was yoga, right? It should at least make me feel peaceful, if not cool and dry.

The studio door opened and closed with the instructor's crisp authority, interrupting my preoccupation with the heat. Svetlana was all business and clearly unconcerned about my peace of mind. Her no-frills delivery in stream-of-consciousness English had a pronounced Eastern European accent.

"We begin the 26 postures starting with standing postures, come on, did you come here to work, or just to sit in a hot room? Keep breathing, lock the knee, lock the knee, lock the knee!"

I glanced sideways at my sister. "Not fun," she muttered under her breath. Svetlana didn't miss a beat. "Don't worry about people around you, focus your mind and the rest of you will follow, concentrate!"

This seemed like boot camp with the temperature turned up. And I'd only gotten through the first posture, which was Breathing. Twenty five postures and 88 minutes to go.

Hot yoga pulled everything out of me and just about every muscle as I contorted myself into the postures. The Standing Bow - stand on one foot, hold the other foot behind me and pull it above my head? Even golf was easier than that. "Don't blink don't think just focus," Svetlana intoned.

The Camel - kneel on my mat, do a back bend, and grab my feet along the way? I'll give it a shot. I leaned backwards and caught sight of the tasseled fountain grasses outside, waving upside down through the windows. My stomach roiled in protest and I sank forward onto my knees.

"If you feel sick or you are wanting to cry this is normal," Svetlana's streaming monologue filtered through my throbbing head. Yes, I'd like to cry, thank you, I thought.

Twelve eternal minutes later, Svetlana turned down the heat, admonishing us to close our eyes and lie in savasana - the dead body pose. No problem. I didn't have the energy for anything else.

Just as I least expected it, that sense of peace that had eluded me throughout the class settled over me like a fresh blanket.

That was five years ago!

My sister has moved on to a rowing machine. I still practice hot yoga. My Standing Bow is sometimes wobbly and I don't always grasp my feet in the Camel. By degrees I've learned the value of staying with the postures - of focusing my mind and letting the rest of me follow. Yoga may not be "fun" or make me "happy" in the usual sense. I'm rewarded with something else for my perseverance - a most peaceful sense of satisfaction.

Yoga, it turns out, has a lot in common with our Rotary experience. Of course we have good times and enjoy each other's company. Still, our main thing is providing life-changing service that often requires long-term, concerted effort. Like eradicating polio, providing clean water and medical care where there are none, or making our clubs and communities bigger, better and bolder.

When we encounter the inevitable challenges, we can sometimes slip into focusing on them instead of on the main thing. Just as with practicing yoga in a very hot room, if we think about who's watching, what's difficult for us or how the heat gets in our way, we diminish our results. If we keep our minds, hearts and efforts focused on that main thing, extraordinary service to humanity can follow. Along with a peaceful sense of satisfaction.

Where is your focus going today?

Sincerely,
PDG Elizabeth

Great Weekend

An older, white haired man walked into a jewelry store this past Friday evening with a beautiful much younger gal at his side. He told the jeweler he was looking for a special ring for his girlfriend. The jeweler looked through his stock and brought out a $5,000 ring.

The old man said, ‘No, I’d like to see something more special.’

At that statement, the jeweler went to his special stock and brought another ring over. ‘Here’s a stunning ring at only $40,000 the jeweler said. The lady’s eyes sparkled and her whole body trembled with excitement. The old man seeing this said, ‘We’ll take it.’

The jeweler asked how payment would be made and the old man stated, ‘by check. I know you need to make sure my check is good, so I’ll write it now and you can call the bank Monday to verify the funds and I’ll pick the ring up Monday afternoon.’

On Monday morning, the jeweler angrily phoned the old man and said ‘There’s no money in that account.’

‘I know,’ said the old man, ‘But let me tell you about MY GREAT WEEKEND!’

HAVE YOU EVER WONDER.....

1. Why do supermarkets make the sick walk all the way to the back of the store to get their prescriptions while healthy people can buy cigarettes at the front.
2. Why do banks leave vault doors open and then chain the pens to the counters.
3. Why can't women put on mascara with their mouth closed?
4. Why is 'abbreviated' such a long word?
5. Why is the man who invests all your money called a broker?
6. Why is the time of day with the slowest traffic called rush hour?
7. Why isn't there mouse-flavored cat food?
8. You know that indestructible black box that is used on airplanes? Why don't they make the whole plane out of that stuff?!
9. Why don't sheep shrink when it rains?
